Financial Tip: Be Content And Not Greedy, Beware Of Scams

Although your overall fortune is strong this year, your financial fortune is surprisingly average; you should not have high expectations for either your regular income or windfalls. Your regular income will remain stable, and you will face no financial issues if you are content and not greedy.

However, chasing after illegitimate gains will only lead to devastating losses. Your guiding principle for managing finances this year must be to control your spending.

The most challenging period for your wealth will be between autumn and winter. Be exceptionally careful with your finances during this time and be on guard against scams that could lead to financial loss.

Influenced by the Unlucky Star "Isolated Living", you may become more withdrawn and solitary this year. Be careful that this doesn't lead to you being isolated by others.

In romance, you will find it difficult to connect with potential partners, and sparks are unlikely to fly. It is best to let relationships develop naturally and not force them. This year, you should spend more time with your family and cherish the joy of family life.
